Mr. Eric Newman

St Louis, MO 63105

Dear Eric:

I have reviewed your proposed agreement, dated May 19, 1987, relating to publication of a third edition of "The Early Paper Money of America."

I am in basic agreement with all of the points you have detailed, though I would like suggest some minor variations and clarifications:

- 1) I have no problem with designating the third edition as the "Centennial Edition" and projecting a fourth quarter of 1988 release date for it.
- 2) Krause Publications is agreeable to reimbursing all usual and reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred by EPN and EPNES in connection with their work in preparing the third edition for publication. In so doing, we understand that the edition can be copyrighted by Krause Publications, with the presently existing copyright to the title to be transferred to KP upon successful publication of the work.
- 2a) As it is our practice to dry up the supply of old editions of any of our titles prior to the release of a new edition, I would like to see your commercial sales of the second edition halted six months prior to a projected release date for the third edition. We would mutually agree, of course, on the release date.
- 3) I have no problem with you restricting your input to revising and correcting the existing text based on data that is available to you.
- 4) We are agreeable to having Colin Bruce of our staff pass to you for review any suggested textual changes that develop to him individually or through the interest of others with whom we have contact. We agree that you have final approval as to the acceptance or rejection of any proposed changes or corrections.
- 5) Your determinations will rule as to any input provided by Margo Russell.

Since 1952

Publishers of the leading magazines, newspapers, and books for collectors.

6) My objective in the publication of any reference is to have the valuations represented by "reasonable," favoring the low, as opposed to the high side of any range. I believe that overpricing tends to discourage collecting. We would certainly be receptive to considering the pricing input of any individuals you might suggest. We would likewise like you to review and comment to us on your opinion of those we select to provide pricing input. We would prefer that the names of the pricing consultants be published, but that the nature of their contribution to the effort be clearly stated.

7) As I indicated to you in St. Louis, it would be my intention to publish this volume with attractive four-color wrapped board covers, sans dust jacket. I would like, however, to reserve the option of considering a quality soft cover, if the conflict between production cost and retail price dictates. From an illustrative context, where the body of the new edition is concerned, I visualize no reductions from the second edition format, only general enhancement and slight expansion.

7a) I was in Racine visiting with Ed Metzger of Whitman earlier this week. He is checking for me to see if he can come up with any mechanical materials from the second edition for me, so that it will not be necessary to lift illustrations from printed pages. If none of the original mechanicals are available, it must be understood that some depreciation of the illustrative quality between the second and third editions will be unavoidable.

8) The paper used in the third edition will be of approximately comparable quality to that utilized in the second edition. Type sizes and styles will be matched as closely as possible, given the limits of the Krause typesetting capability, to that employed in the previous edition.

8a) We would like to present a bibliographical listing of prior works authored by Eric P. Newman, as provided by the author, in combination with a photograph of the author.

9) I am in total agreement with your suggestion for chaining proof reading and correcting responsibilities.

9a) Providing schedules permit, Krause Publications wishes to have Eric P. Newman travel to Iola, as KP's expense, to OK final graphic proofs of the pages. At the time of that visit, KP would stage appropriate promotional photographs.

10) Krause Publications would furnish 80 copies of the published book to EPN without charge, with the understanding that such copies would not be sold by EPN, but used for library and presentation purposes at his discretion. Three interleaved copies would also be furnished to EPN for his use as working copies.

10a) It would be Krause Publications' intention to call upon EPN, if he is physically and mentally able, and interested in so participating, to revise and correct the text for any subsequent editions which may be published.

11) Krause Publications will be guided in its incorporation of such suggestions as proposed by EPN under this item by the direction provided by the author, but reserves the right to limit such additional indices or similar features as suggested to those which may be incorporated without requiring an expansion of the page count of the published work to more than 448.

11a) We will consider incorporating a special signature illustrating selected notes in color. Can you furnish an interesting and colorful selection, which we would photograph, which could be represented on eight to sixteen pages?

If you wish to draft the basic statement of understanding which we can sign, I will be glad to review it with our lawyer.

I would like to have a copy of Whitman's letter or agreement assigning copyright ownership of "The Early Paper Money of America" to EPN or the EPNNES tied to the agreement we will be signing.

Sincerely yours,

THOUGHTS AS TO PUBLICATION OF A THIRD EDITION OF THE EARLY PAPER MONEY OF AMERICA.

On May 7, 1987, Cliff Mishler, on behalf of Krause and Eric P. Newman on behalf of Eric P. Newman Numismatic Education Society (EPNNES), had a discussion about the above project. I suggest that the following matters can be put into an appropriate agreement.

1. The third edition may be called the Constitutional Edition and should be completed and published before the end of 1988.
2. All proceeds on the sale of the third edition shall go to Krause and only out of pocket expenses of EPNNES in the preparation of the publication shall be paid to EPNNES by Krause. The existing copyright owned by EPNNES shall be transferred to Krause by EPNNES after the publication is completed. The new edition may be copyrighted by Krause. Any remaining inventory of the second edition owned by EPNNES shall not be commercially sold.
3. EPN will, if physically and mentally able, add to and correct the existing text and will use Richard Picker's notations and Joe Lasser's notations, as well as EPN's very extensive list of changes; provided, however, that EPN will not furnish the catalog value of items.
4. Suggestions as to amendments and changes will be made by Krause and any editors it selects and those suggestions will be added subject to EPN final approval.
5. Margo Russell has also agreed to make suggestions.
6. Prices are to be set by parties selected by Krause, but EPN prefers that the names of those pricing the items be excluded from the text. Prices are to be reasonable and EPN may suggest other persons to review them, but EPN will not be obligated to review them.
7. The book will be advertised and promoted as is customary for Krause publications of this type. The book will be of first class quality, having attractive hard cover with lettering on its spine and face. No dust wrapper is needed. Illustrations may be lifted from the second edition and others added by EPN and from various other sources. There shall be no reduction in the number and order of placement of illustrations from the second edition and they shall be printed full size with rare exceptions.

CLIFFORD MISHLER
May 19, 1987

8. The paper will be of quality approximately equal to or better than the second edition. The size of the type will all be convenient size and will not be as small as some of the smaller type used in Rulau. Circled symbols may be modified into squares, hexagons, or otherwise if desired. A list of the author's prior works will be included and perhaps a photograph of the author.

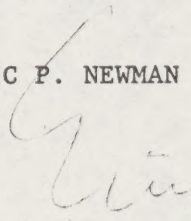

9. Galley proofs will be submitted to the author after having been first proof read and corrected by Krause. The author will check and return the galley proofs. Page proofs will thereafter be proof read by Krause and submitted to EPN for final checking. Appropriate changes will be made in each case by Krause and EPN.

10. About 80 copies of the complete publication shall be sent to EPN by Krause without charge. Also 3 interleaved copies for future correction.

11. The names of any editors or those who help in the content of the book (not prices) may be mentioned and EPN sincerely hopes that you and others you select make many suggestions and recommendations to improve the book. EPN particularly expects that input. There can be more illustrations of counterfeit and genuine pieces for comparison. A new preface can be written by EPN or by someone else. Additional indices may be added. A composite index of signers of state issues may be added. The appendix can contain additional sections. More illustrations can be added to the introduction. An explanation of non-existing items can be included. Additional bibliography and sale catalogs should be included. A few pages with colored illustrations is optional. Franklin's original sketches of the link design can be included.

Please send to EPN other thoughts so that a written understanding can be prepared.

THOUGHTS ON A THIRD EDITION OF EARLY PAPER MONEY OF AMERICA

One of the enlightening experiences of researching and writing on a reasonably broad numismatic subject is the extent of new material which develops after publication. The assemblage of such new data, whether already known or newly found by others or ^{whether} newly found by the author develops in many various ways. Some is separately published by the person who locates or has located it. Some is relayed directly to the writer in the form of challenges, corrections or additions ^{at whatever the source}. This type of progress is essential to move the subject toward reasonable completeness for scholarship purposes. Although so many subjects change as time goes on, the facts of history do not. The gaps in history must therefore be filled in with new findings consolidated into the former knowledge on the subject.

~~Unpublished numismatic pieces are sometimes described in auction catalogs as previously unknown, previously unlisted or previously undescribed in order to generate value.~~ printed only one issue, that ^{being} dated March 25, 1733. The issue ^{was first} authorized on July 8, 1730 ^{but} was not approved by the Crown until May 4, 1732. A long delay ^{between approval and} printing therefore occurred ^{for some reason}. Benjamin Franklin had printed the March previous ~~25, 1728~~ issue dated March 25, 1728 but ~~at that time~~

~~he~~ did not receive the contract for ^{the 1733 issue} printing. He ^{subsequently} did

~~Another printer who took the job from him.~~

In the March 25, 1733 issue
there were 9 denominations with 4 borders each. Each had a separate coat of arms. ~~Only the~~ only one sun ^{was prepared} that meant that ^{at least one} other suns were cast from it. Why then could not other coats of arms be cast from the ~~engraved~~ coat of arms.

The conclusion is that to protect the public from counterfeits and ^{alterations} the coats of arms of each denom were different. This was true as to the lead borders because they too were different on each denom.

the engraved cuts were interlaced and raised lead printing elements were cast from them. Three full suns were needed of the L 6 and L 3 were to be printed simultaneously. It would have been simple to cast enough coats of arms from one engraving but to have a separate engraving for each one seems unnecessary.
Yet the same multiple engraving was done for the borders.

An interesting puzzle as to printing ^{procedure} occurred in the North Carolina 1778 issue. There were 14 denominations ~~then~~ authorized ~~but~~ the $ 1/16 was never printed, ^{the reason given being the} ~~because of the~~ small pox epidemic. ~~However~~ However ~~there were~~ ~~100,000~~ the quantities to be printed were ~~to be~~ ordered for 100,000 impressions of

When the number of $1/16 ^{denom} was reduced to 12,500 before the printing started there was no adjustment in other quantities. ~~these~~ ~~left a requirement of printing~~ ~~the first three the $1/49 $1/2 were to~~ be 100,000 each and the total of the $1, 2 and $4 were to be 100,000. Thus a four subject sheet was used to print 100,000 impressions. The $1/16 was ignored because of inflation and not printed at all. If small pox had ~~been~~ since all other denoms were printed the $1/16 was deliberately left out 12,500 each and so 3 types

The $5 and $10 signed 50,000 each and so 3 types of each could be arranged on a 6 subpart sheet with 16 bldo ~~of each~~ impressions. But there are 4 types of

This would make 16,646 of each ^{of 39th} $5 type instead of 12,500 for each of 4 types as listed in the book.

Southland Mall
Tulsa, Oklahoma

Presently, Southland Mall is in a densely populated area in the city of Tulsa, Oklahoma. The new landlords (Robert B. Aikens), have decided to completely re-habilitate this center. They plan to build a two level enclosed mall. Presently it is a one level, open mall. In order for ownership to proceed they need our cooperation. We will have to close down the Bakers and Joan Bari operations by March 1, 1985. The reason they need our assistance is that the Bakers storeroom occupies the space where they have to install two of the escalators that will go to the second floor. The entire scenario is very similar to the Westroads Mall here in St. Louis. Because of the leverage we have in this situation, we were able to negotiate a very favorable Bakers renewal along with three new deals, 5-7-9 Shops, Jeans West, and Oak Tree (we are still negotiating for a Wild Pair). We were unable to negotiate a meaningful new deal for Joan Bari.

The Real Estate Department is recommending approval of all four deals.

Dear Joe —

HELP

I am green in some work I am doing; I am green with envy of your expertise in that work; and the place I need help is Green, the printers.

In EPMOA under Conn 7/12/1709 redated 1713 you suggested a change in the printer from Timothy Green to Deacon Timothy Green. This is also true of the 15 following issues. In the 1/8/1755 issue Timothy Green Jr is ^{to be} used instead of Timothy Green and this is true for issues until 3/8/64 when you say Timothy Green II is to be used and this carries on.

There is a Timothy Green III in the Vermont issue.

What I want to know is

- Is Deacon a first name or a title?
- Is Timothy Green, Jr the same as Timothy Green II?
- Is Timothy Green III the son of Timothy II?
- Are these grandfather, father and son?

The notes only show Timothy Green when ~~the~~ that name is used or T. Green or Timo. Green etc. Will you suggest how I can clear up my revision ~~memoranda~~.
Sincerely.

ACTION REQUESTED: This is merely notification that the landlord is unwilling to extend this lease.

Although our sales have risen dramatically so far this year, the landlord (J. V. Properties) is unwilling to discuss a renewal for this space. Ostensibly, he wants to re-merchandise the mall with much higher priced tenants. Even if he would have discussed an extension, the minimum guarantee and "extras" would have been in the $40,000/$45,000 range. Although our lease expires March 31, 1985, he is willing to let us stay open Easter week and then close.

Attached is a history of this operation.

Dear Eric:

Enclosed please find a copy of a note I have just purchased which is an unlisted denomination in your 1976 edition of EARLY PAPER MONEY OF AMERICA. Did you receive the other copies of unlisted notes I mailed about two months ago? It would be of interest to find out where the plate note of the Ct. came from. Hope to keep you posted with new findings. As always, my best.

Sincerely,

Dana Linett

PS: I have an extensive inventory of notes and if it is possible for you to Xerox your checklist or send some sort of want list I'm sure I can help to expand your collection. Unfortunately, I rarely get a chance to do price lists of all the notes that I have.

Dear Eric:

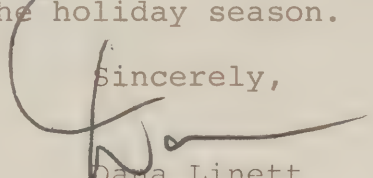

It was quite a pleasure to see you again, if rather briefly, at the ANS conference. I enjoyed your talk very much. I have enclosed a Xerox of several notes I have come by of late. I believe that the New Haven 1794 1½ penny is the plate note in your book. Do you have a pedigree on this note? The 1 penny is an unlisted denomination.

The Conn. June 1, 1781 "BEARER" certificate is not made out to any single individual and I believe is a note. This could possibly be something for a future update.

Finally, the two NEW BALTIMORE notes are unlisted in your book and should be of interest. The reverse is blank and the numbers 80 and 75 might indicate that David Smith issued very few.

I hope that these are notes which you find of interest. Indeed, I am sure that you have many such new finds to be included in any future work. Again, I am more than happy to help in any way on such a project. All my best for the holiday season.

Sincerely,

Dana Linett

~~Robert Morris Notes *1781-82~~

(Not) ^{personally} Circulating Notes issued by Robert Morris ~~personally~~ to finance the payment for supplies and other needs ^{of the United States government}. ~~These quasi-official ^{United States} bearer obligations were signed when Robert Morris was Superintendent of the Office of Finance of the United States and drawn on John Swanwick, Cashier of the Office of Finance of the United States. At that time the United States had no credit standing and the personal obligation of these two of Morris ^{was at the time} ~~was~~ much more acceptable ^{to merchants} than any obligation the United States might ~~have~~ the Continental Congress might authorize the United States to issue. ^{Money for payment was obtained from} ~~Payment was made out of~~ taxes, loans, and other funds payable to the United States. ^{The paper on which the notes were printed was watermarked with a post horn.} ~~The copper plates were engraved by Robert Scott (United States Mint engraver from 1793 to 1826) pursuant to a July 27, 1781 entry in the Morris diary.~~ Circulation was stopped by Morris on November 8, 1782. ^{Because of the appearance of counterfeit:} ~~#20 notes~~ ^{when} only ~~#16, 670~~ ^{of the same was} outstanding. ~~These notes~~ ^{this issue was} known as Short Boba (Long Boba) ^{personally} signed by Morris in denominations of $100, $50, $30, and $20, ^{and} printed on paper watermarked UNITED STATES. ~~At notes~~ Both Short Boba and Long Boba were paid in full and cancelled by an ~~ink~~ X on their face.~~
